Photo copy the flower on this page and enlarge to the size you desire.

Cut around the photocopied flower or for a stronger template trace onto template plastic or cardboard.

Trace around the template with chalk onto the reverse of the satin (pic 1)

Cut a square of organza much larger than the size of the flower. (pic 2)

Place the organza on the right side of the satin over the flower design, (pic 3)

Pin through the petals to hold in place. (as seen in pic 4 over the page)

Set the Ovation up for a narrow right coverstitch with a stitch length of 2.5 use the threads which match the organza. Reduce the presser foot pressure 2 clicks down, remove the standard foot and replace with the clear or curve foot. The clear foot makes it easier to see, the curve foot makes it easier to stitch the curves.

Starting from the centre stitch the petal shapes in a continuous line, finish in the centre and tie the ends off on the wrong side.

Using sharp pointed scissors, trim back the excess organza, careful not to cut the stitching. Place a square of satin on the right side over the centre of the flower.

Stitch the circle from the wrong side the satin will twist slightly, raising the centre circle giving a 3D effect.

Take the threads through to the back, (pic 7) and tie them off, trim back the excess satin.

Repeat this placing the flowers where you desire on the corner of the wrap.

Convert the Ovation to a four thread overlock, place the right side of the satin to the right side of the lining and overlock all sides leaving an opening of 20 cm in the centre of the short end where there are no flowers. Turn through and press, hand stitch the opening closed. Try the wrap on and mark the position for the button and button hole, stitch the button hole and hand sew the button in place.
